

Wordsmithie

helps Media & Entertainment brands spread the word far and wide

Founded in 2010 by one of Google's first content strategists, Wordsmithie has bench strength in entertainment and media: Many of our leaders, writers, editors, and designers come from the executive ranks of the world's best-loved media and entertainment brands. Our team also includes two Emmy winners and a Jeopardy Champion of Champions.

A certified woman-owned business that was born distributed, our team spans the U.S. and Western Europe to support clients in multiple regions.

Wordsmithie partners with audio giant Audacy on white papers about the power of radio and streaming audio to reach audiences.

“Our ‘State of Audio’ guide is a success as a brand-building and lead-generation tool.

This one content marketing campaign now accounts for 17% of our entire subscriber community.”

—Karen Weber
Senior PMM, Digital, Audacy

Why Wordsmithie?

Since our founding in 2010, we've held true to our mission to help brands craft and design content that shines. What's in our secret sauce? We are...

Quality-driven

Our brand chameleons get inside your head at lightning speed to understand what makes your brand tick. And our top-notch editorial team makes sure nothing goes out the door without a rigorous review.

Experienced

Founded by one of Google's first content strategists, Wordsmithie's circle includes marketing, strategy, comms, and design experts, including published authors, e-learning specialists, two Emmy winners, and even a Jeopardy Champion of Champions.

Nimble

Whether you need spur-of-the-moment creative or ongoing support, Wordsmithie is ready to walk by your side. We spin up experienced teams quickly to help you navigate shifting requirements, multiple stakeholders, and tight turnarounds.

Wordsmithie:

Consistently trusted and verifiably loved.

"Our 'State of Audio' guide is a success (thanks to you) as both a brand-building and lead-generation tool. This one content marketing campaign now accounts for 17% of our entire subscriber community. Thanks for being such fabulous partners."
